

Dmitry Vodennikov
Poet in Residence events
Cambridge, Durham, Edinburgh, London, Oxford

Supported by the University of Glasgow's Centre for Russian, Central and East European Studies, Cambridge, Durham, Edinburgh and Oxford Universities, and Anglo-Russian Culture Club (London)

20 February—3 March, 2016

*“Потому что всех тех, кто не выдержал главную битву, кто остался в Париже, в больнице, в землянке, в стихах под Москвой, все равно соберут, как рассыпанную землянику,
а потом унесут — на зеленых ладонях — домой.”*

Дмитрий Воденников, “Черновик”

“Стихи - это всегда единое поле. Твои стихи не берутся из ниоткуда. Они пришли из чужих стихов и чужих голосов. Ты - это калейдоскоп чужих текстов. Об этом надо помнить всегда. И быть благодарным. Без другого не было бы тебя.”

Dmitry Vodennikov is a poet, an essayist and a radio presenter. He graduated from the department of philology of Moscow State Pedagogical University. Dmitry is an author of seven books of poetry. He writes essays and columns for several Russian newspapers and journals. For a number of years he has been hosting radio shows about contemporary Russian literature including “Notes from a Neophyte,” “From One’s Own Angle” (Своя колокольня), and “Poetic Minimum.” In 2002, he was named one of the ten best living Russian poets. He is considered the leader of New Sincerity movement in Russian literature.*

Anglo-Russian Culture Club, London

“Мне нравятся стихи, что на трамвай похожи”

An Evening of Poetry Reading with Dmitry Vodennikov (in Russian/ English)

Time: Saturday, 20 February, 18.30

Venue: Clementi House, London

For further information, contact Larissa Itina at larissaitina@gmail.com

Cambridge University

A Visit with Poet Dmitry Vodennikov (a talk and a poetry reading in Russian/ English)

Time: Tuesday, 23 February, 17.30

Venue: Latimer Room, Clare College, Trinity Lane, CB2 1TL

For further information, contact Olga Plocienniczak at slavon@hermes.cam.ac.uk

Durham University

Ворованный воздух/ Stolen Air (Русская неподцензурная поэзия 20-го века, in Russian)

Time: Thursday, 25 February, 6 pm

Venue: Norman Chapel, Durham Castle

Workshop for students of the MA Programme in Translation Studies with participation of Dmitry Vodennikov (in English)

Time: Friday, 26 February, 2016, 9-11 am

Venue: Elvet Riverside 1, Room 140

“Мне нравятся стихи, что на трамвай похожи”

An evening of poetry reading with Dmitry Vodennikov (in Russian)

Time: 6 pm, Friday, 26 February, 2016

Venue: Elvet Riverside 1, Room 141

For further information, contact Sergey Tyulenev at sergey.tyulenev@durham.ac.uk

Princess Dashkova Russian Centre, The University of Edinburgh

The Russian Word in Edinburgh

“Мне нравятся стихи, что на трамвай похожи”

A Poetry Evening with Dmitry Vodennikov (in Russian)

Time: Monday, 29th February, 6.00 pm

Venue: The Princess Dashkova Russian Centre, 14 Buccleuch Place, EH8 9LN

For further information, contact Vera Zvereva at Vera.Zvereva@ed.ac.uk

Oxford University

Ворованный воздух/ Stolen Air (Русская неподцензурная поэзия 20-го века, in Russian)

Time: Thursday, 3 March, 17.00-18.15

Venue: Modern Languages Faculty, 47 Wellington sq. Basement Lecture Room

(to be continued)

Poetic Reading with Dmitry Vodennikov (in Russian)

Time: Thursday, 3 March, 18.30-19.30

Venue: Modern Languages Faculty (47 Wellington sq. Basement Lecture Room)

For further information, contact Andrei Zorin at andrei.zorin@mod-langs.ox.ac.uk